Birding at Whitewater State Park

The park's diverse habitat includes towering bluffs, woodlands, marshes, riparian and other wetlands that make it a popular birding destination. The Whitewater Wildlife Management Area surrounds the park and provides further habitat for birds.

Watch for migrating warblers and vireos in the spring. Hike bluff trails to view raptors such as hawks and eagles. The woodlands along the Whitewater River and the bottomlands of the nearby Mississippi River also provide excellent birding opportunities.
