ABOUT THE RECREATION AREA

Greenleaf Lake State Recreation Area is the result of grassroots efforts to protect natural shore land and productive wildlife habitat from development. Among the area's treasures are a unique forested island on Sioux Lake with a rare mixture of American and rock elms along with large basswood, green ash, bur and red oak seldom found in Minnesota.

Visit to experience an area rich in wildlife where water, prairie, forest and agriculture all meet.

Cast a line from the fishing pier.

HIGHLIGHTS

Hunting

This recreation area is open to some types of hunting. Refer to the "Minnesota Hunting and Trapping Regulations Handbook" for up-to-date information and current opportunities about state recreation areas open to public hunting.

Fishing

Fish for northern pike, bluegill, crappie and walleye while enjoying the scenery of the undeveloped shoreline of Greenleaf Lake. Cast a line from the shore or launch a boat. A public water access and fishing pier can be accessed from 640th Ave. on the west side of the recreation area.

Nature Viewing

Watch the many wildlife species that call the area home. You may spot waterfowl, amphibians or deer.

Hiking Trail

Mostly flat • Packed dirt

1 mile, one-way

Watch for wildlife along this short trail that begins at the parking area. The path leads through an open field dotted with cedars and sumacs before turning south into a quiet, shaded oak forest.
