

2002 Antlerless Harvest

The classification method used with these maps is Natural Breaks. This method finds natural groupings, and accurately displays harvest patterns for a given year. Since the harvest changes every year, the classes change also, and these particular maps aren't suited to comparing harvest year to year. steve.benson@dnr.state.mn.us