Statutory composition of Fisheries and Wildlife oversight committees:

Fisheries Oversight Committee

At least 10 members, all appointed by the DNR Commissioner.

Note: The DNR generally prefers to appoint more than 10 members to the committee in order to stay above that statutory minimum should one or two members find it necessary to withdraw.

Each year the committee chooses a member to serve as its chair.

The committee also chooses four members to serve along with the chair on the Budgetary Oversight Committee (BOC).

Wildlife Oversight Committee

At least 10 members, all appointed by the DNR Commissioner.

Note: The DNR generally prefers to appoint more than 10 members to the committee in order to stay above that statutory minimum should one or two members find it necessary to withdraw.

Each year the committee chooses a member to serve as its chair.

The committee also chooses four members to serve along with the chair on the Budgetary Oversight Committee (BOC).
