BIRD CHECKLIST

JAY COOKE STATE PARK

Birding at Jay Cooke State Park

During spring migration, find a spot near the river (such as the overlooks at Oldenburg Point) to check out migrating warblers, sparrows and raptors. In the campground, listen for white-throated sparrows and merlins in the summer, or white-winged crossbills and pine grosbeaks in winter. Woodpeckers, nuthatches, thrushes, warblers and grouse can often be found in the forest on the Ridge or CCC trails.

A great paved trail for walking, biking or strollers is the Forbay Trail which winds through the forest and ends at a canal. Many different warblers, thrushes, flycatchers and vireos will be found in the forest, while water-loving birds like swallows, ducks, geese and sandpipers can be found near the open water of the canal. For more open water and shoreline birds, walk out to the Fond Du Lac Reservoir from the Grand Portage trailhead parking lot.
