Birding at St. Croix State Park

St. Croix State Park is Minnesota's largest state park with over 33,000 acres of woodlands, streams, rivers and swamps. This woodland and stream habitat provides excellent areas for migrating and breeding species of warblers, vireos, flycatchers, thrushes and sparrows. The rare Louisiana waterthrush reaches the northern limit of its range along the St. Croix River at the park. The woodlands offer prime habitat for the whip-poor-will, American woodcock, ruffed grouse, barred owl and long-eared owl. Winter finches such as pine and evening grosbeaks, pine siskins, common redpolls and purple finches are seen each winter.

Bird Identification Tips

When you observe a bird, make note of at least three characteristics.

Location: Where did you see the bird? (water, forest, feeder, lower branch, tree trunk, etc.)

Body size and shape: Compare to a known bird. (smaller than a...bigger than a...plump like a...slender like a...) Look at tail, legs and bill. (long, short, thick, thin, curved, straight)

Colors and markings: Look on wings, tail, back, belly, rump and head. (stripe above eye, white spot on tail, etc.)

Sounds and movements: How do they act and sound? (travel alone or in groups, in-flight wing position - soaring, flapping, flap and glide, etc.)
