

AIS Control Grants 2022: Summary of Results

Information about the Minnesota DNR's 2022 Aquatic Invasive Species Control Grant Program projects (link) for the control of curly-leaf pondweed (CLP), Eurasian water milfoil (EWM) and flowering rush (FR) was announced publicly on January 18, 2022 through a DNR news release, on the DNR website and through the DNR mailing lists for this grant program.

In total, $1.25 million was made available for the AIS Control Grant Program in 2022. These funds came from a one-time appropriation of $850,000 that was made available from a special legislative session in 2021 for lake associations to treat invasive aquatic plants. In addition, $400,000 of regular program funds was made available for traditional control grants to local units of government (LGUs) and tribes that were not eligible for the one-time funds.

The DNR divided these funds into two grant types: 1) Traditional AIS Control Grants (TCG) ($400,000 for lake associations and $400,000 for LGUs and tribes, selected by a randomized order) and 2) a one-time special initiative for New Infestations and Innovative Control Grants (NIIC) ($450,000 for lake associations, competitively reviewed). Applicants were able to propose a second year of treatment if all grant work could be completed before July 1, 2023. Grantees that receive funding for two years will not be eligible to apply for program funds in 2023 for a waterbody already receiving funds for 2023.

The grant program application period opened at midnight on Friday, January 21, and closed at 9:00 a.m. on Monday, February 21, 2022. The program received 244 applications and awarded a total of 142 grants (15 NIIC and 127 TCG). Eighty-one were awarded two-year grants, for a total of 223 treatments funded.

A complete list of the 142 grants that have been offered are in the following table.
