ABOUT THE PARK

The park's lake was created when early settlers built a dam on the Upper Iowa River to power a gristmill, an important business for the growing frontier community of Le Roy. Later in time, the Hambrecht Family donated several acres along the lake as a recreation area called Wildwood Park. The lake was named "Louise" after a family member. The city of Le Roy donated Wildwood Park to the state in 1962, and Lake Louise State Park was established. Today, at 849 acres, the park offers woodlands and restored prairies with abundant wildflowers and wildlife. The park also includes the confluence of the Upper Iowa and Little Iowa rivers and features numerous sinkholes.

Swim, paddle and fish at Lake Louise.

TRAIL HIGHLIGHTS

Shooting Star State Trail

19.7 miles one-way

Flat • Paved • Accessible

Grab your bike and pedal through the park from Le Roy to Rose Creek. The trail passes through woodlands, meadows and rural farm environment.

Lake View Trail

2-mile loop

Flat • Packed dirt • Grass

Begin your hike from the campground parking lot. Head southwest to cross the Upper Iowa River at the low-water crossing. From there, the trail loops through beautiful restored prairies and woodlands and offers charming views of Lake Louise and the Upper Iowa River.

Wildwood Loop (Hiking Club Trail)

1.2-mile loop

Flat • Crushed rock • Packed dirt

Start from the picnic parking area and travel through a closed canopy woodland with lush plant life, including abundant ferns and spectacular spring wildflowers.

Woodcock Loop

2.4-mile loop

Flat • Crushed rock • Packed dirt

Wind through remnant and restored prairie, oak savanna with abundant summer wildflowers, and views of the Little Iowa River. Find the trailhead at the entrance station.

BE OUR GUEST IN THE SUMMER

- Reserve a drive-in campsite, electric or non-electric, and stay awhile.
- Enjoy a get-together with family, friends or a scout group in a reservable group campsite.
- Bring your horse for a weekend on the trails and stay at a reservable horse rider campsite.
- Make your reservations by visiting mndnr.gov/reservations.

MORE TO EXPLORE

- Bring your fishing gear to cast for largemouth bass, crappie and a variety of other fish. The park provides plenty of kid-friendly shore fishing opportunities.
- Visit in the spring or summer to view numerous wildflowers along park trails.
- Bring your binoculars and search for diverse bird species.
